

The Collaborative Research Center 1671 „Home(s): Phenomena, Practices, Representations" is an interdisciplinary research project funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG) (first funding period), which is dedicated to the task of examining the current and always controversial phenomenon of home for its historical and global relevance. Further information can be found at www.muwi.uni-heidelberg.de.

The following part-time position (65 percent) is to be filled in the subproject „Conceptions of Home in German-Language Songs of the Early Modern Period" from 1 October 2024 until 30 June 2028:
Research assistant (f/m/d)

Your tasks: * writing a musicological dissertation within the first funding period * collaboration in regular work meetings * participation in project-specific event formats and publications * participation in collaborations with other subprojects * support of guest researchers

Your profile: * an above-average academic degree in musicology * interest in interdisciplinary work and methodological reflection * strong communication and teamwork skills * very good German and English skills

We offer: * collegial, interdisciplinary, international and diversity-friendly working environment * interdisciplinary supervision of the qualification thesis * further training opportunities tailored to your needs * internships and traineeships in science-related professional fields with our cooperation partners * measures tailored to needs to promote diversity and compatibility of family and career * jobticket

The remuneration is based on TV-L E13.

We look forward to receiving your application, which please send with the usual documents (cover letter, CV and certificates) by 30.06.2024 in a PDF file by e-mail to the subproject leader Prof. Dr. Christiane Wiesenfeldt (wiesenfeldt@zegk.uni-heidelberg.de), who will also be available to answer any questions you may have.

Heidelberg University stands for equal opportunities and diversity. Qualified female candidates are especially invited to apply. Persons with severe disabilities will be given preference if they are equally qualified. Information on job advertisements and the collection of personal data is available at www.uni-heidelberg.de/en/job-market